By signing below, the customer [Dr. Richard Chang], and company [Hyreus LTD.] are agreeing to the overall system design that's detailed in the System Design Document. We are both agreeing to the system architecture of the project as well as it's persistent data design and requirements matrix.

In the case that changes will need to be made, the customer will contact the point of contact for our company [Austin DeLauney] with what changes he requests. Then we will discuss separately as a team on whether or not the request is accomplishable given the time left on the project. We will then have a formal meeting with the customer to formally agree or disagree to the request. The request, if agreed upon, will then be recorded on a separate document and uploaded to the shared repository.

Team Review Sign Off

The members of Hyreus LTD. have reviewed the Systems Design Document and agreed to its contents and formats. After several discussions and meetings with the customer we were able to formulate a design for our application as well as our process. Below will contain the signatures of each team member agreeing to the terms of the project's requirements. Any comments about minor disagreements that any of the members have had will be included below.
